E30 Engine Swap

The Standard Engine swaps are the easiest; parts are common, and the E30 was designed to have this engines fitted from the factory so, on the whole, they drop straight in. In contrast the Motorsport engines are the real hero swaps; some serious fabrication will be required, as well as a big fat wallet to cover the parts you need. And remember, you'll need other upgrades to help you make use of all that power.

I have been thinking about getting an E30. It would be for a daily driver. I would want an engine swap to get around 200-240hp. So which in your opinion are the best? An S50 would probably be more than I am willing to spend. So I thought about some cheaper Japanese engine. What would you do? My budget is around 6,000 as a whole.
